Abstract
The purpose of this study is to answer the research questions on how pesantren Al Ittihad guards the Islamic moderation inherited from the previous generation in this globalization era, what aspects of moderation are carried out and how to implement them. To answer these two research questions, the researcher used technique of data collection through interview, documentation and observation. Based on the results of documentation and interview with kyai, alumni and administrator of pesantren, it produced comprehensive information. After collecting the data, the researcher analyzes by steps, namely data reduction, data display, data verification and conclusions. There are two conclusions in this study. First, there are four types of programs run by pesantren Al Ittihad in guarding the Islamic moderation in Indonesia. First, the teaching of a classical book as a medium for the transformation of Islamic sciences. Second, the implementation of extra-educational activities and pesantren teaching in the form of speech, negotiation, ziarah kubur, yasinan, mujahadahab, Al Barjanji, manaqib, and tablil. Third, establishing formal school in the pesantren for santri and the community around it. Fourth, inviting government and community leaders who have moderate Islamic understanding. Second, the moderation carried out by pesantren Al Ittihad covers the fields of religious thought, education, Islamic rites, tolerance, politics, economics and tradition and culture.

Introduction
The existence of pesantren for Indonesian is a necessity, both during the colonial and independence era. According to Siraj (1999: 202), the existence of pesantren is important for two main reasons. First, to respond to situation and condition of society faced with moral degradation and social change. Second, to spread the universality of Islam to all over the archipelago. For Muslims, the demand and spirit of Islam are important factors for pesantren. By spreading the universality of Islam, it is expected that Islamization in Indonesia continuously develops. Qomar (2007: 6-7) said that the purpose of the pesantren is to build Muslim personality of the citizens by Islamic teaching and instill a sense of religion in various aspects of life.

As one of the oldest pesantren in Central Java, the age of this pesantren can be known through the change of five generations from its founder. The evidence shows that in Central Java there are several pesantren which still connected to the generation of Kyai Misbah, the founder of pesantren Al Ittihad or decent of Kyai Hasan Asy’ari, the second generation of pesantren Al Ittihad. The founder of pesantren Al Itqan Bugen, Semarang still has family bond with Al Ittihad. It is known that KH Shodaqah is the son of KH Hasan Asy’ari, the second generation of pesantren Al Ittihad. KH Shodaqah is an older brother of KH Ahmad Asy’ari, the third generation of pesantren Al Ittihad. Also, there are pesantren in Kendal and Purwokerto areas that still have family bond with Al Ittihad. It shows that pesantren Al Ittihad is one of the oldest salaf pesantren in Central Java, especially in Semarang regency.

Salaf pesantren in the globalization era faced various challenges. In this era of globalization, salaf pesantren faced challenges in the form of trans-national Islamic understanding entering Indonesian territory. Trans-national Islamic ideologies entering Indonesia established educational institutions as the basis of doctrine and cadres. With the increasingly incessant transnational Islamic ideas in Indonesia and the establishment of educational institutions affiliated with transnational Islam, it is a threat for the existence of moderate salaf pesantren. It is necessary to conduct research to find out the efforts carried out by salaf pesantren in guarding the Islamic moderation in Indonesia. The writer conducted research in Pesantren Al Ittihad since it is the oldest salaf pesantren in Central Jawa, and this pesanteren provided materials that might lead to Islamic moderation. The basic question in this research is what efforts are carried out by pesantren Al Ittihad Poncol, Beringin, Semarang regency in guarding Islamic moderation in Indonesia? To answer this question, the writer conducted research to big families of pesantren Al Ittihad.

Literature Review

Salaf Pesantren

Pondok Pesantren, commonly known as Islamic boarding school in English, is a familiar phrase in Indonesia. This phrase is a combination of two terms, namely “pondok” which comes from Arabic meaning hostel, similar to a hostel (Warson, 1997: 1662), and “pesantren” which comes from the Tamil language meaning teacher of Qur’an and kitab kuning, or in Indian language, it means people who know the holy book (Dhofier, 2011: 41).

According to Dhofier (2011: 41) the term “pesantren” comes from the word “santri”, added the prefix pe and suffix an, becomes “pesantrian” or “pesantren” which means the place where the students live. Mulkhan (1994: 1) and Mastuki (2010: 16) have similar definition of pesantren to that of Dhofier, namely a place where the students learn. Another definition is stated by Geerts (1960: 178) that pondok or pesantren is the center for the traditional Islamic education system. Geertz described the pondok or pesantren as a hostel for santri, when studying Islam through the kitab kuning under the guidance of the kyai. Dhofier interprets pondok pesantren as a center for traditional Islamic education where the students stay temporarily to explore about Islam by studying the kitab kuning. As a temporary residence, Steenbrink and Dhofier describe pesantren as a simple building made of bamboo or wood and equipped with a kitchen and a place for ablution (Dhofier, 2011: 41).

Mastuhu asserts pesantren is a traditional Islamic educational institution that studies, understands, deepens, appreciates, and practices Islamic teaching by emphasizing on the importance of religious moral as guidelines for daily life (Mastuhu, 1994: 55).
Pesantren as an institution is supported by the main elements. According to Geertz (1960: 179) and Steenbrink (1974: 15-16) the elements of pesantren as an institution consist of kyai, a person who has performed the haj, santri, a building for santri to learn including a kyai’s house, a mosque and a boarding house where the santri live. Dhofier (2011: 41) explains in more detailed that the elements of pesantren, are kyai, santri, mosque, pondok and classical book. Kyai is the most basic element in the pesantren because he is considered as the founder of the pesantren itself. Kyai is a pious person and has strengths.

Kyai has a very crucial role. He is considered as a reference, a consultant for the community, a person to solve various problems (problem-solving), and a person to whom people might ask for advice (Nata, 2001: 34, Noer, 1982: 18). Meanwhile, the santri is pesantren cadre who study Islamic science as the successor to the pesantren’s mission in spreading the Islamic teaching. Kyai and santri are considered as two elements that share the same vision and mission, both of which form a religious community called pesantren.

Based on the main elements of the pesantren, several figures and observers explain that there are five characteristics of the salaf pesantren. First, classical book as the main curriculum. According to Geertz, classical book is the foundation of learning at the salaf pesantren(1960: 179). Steenbrink (1974: 12) also explains that the teaching of kitab kuning in the pesantren is the continuation of the Qur’an. Additionally, Bruinessen (1994: 17) states that Islamic teachings taken from the kitab kuning are those that will be transmitted to the students.

Thus, salaf pesantren is a pesantren whose teaching rests on the kitab kuning as explained by Dhofier (2011: 76, Zuhry, 2011: 291, Maksum, 2015: 86, Muhakamurrohman, 2014: 113, Wahid, 2001: 55). The kitab kuning taught usually discusses the interpretation of the Qur’an, hadith, fiqh and ushul fiqh, morals, Islamic history, faraid (Islamic inheritance), the science of falak, the science of hisab, and others. All learning material at the pesantren comes from Arabic books called kitab kuning, kitab gundul, and classical book.

Kitab kuning is a scientific system in the Islamic history especially in Indonesia. Bruinessen (1994: 20) describes the aspects of the scientific tradition and scientific transmission as a link in the scientific system connected to the Messenger of Allah, through the mediation of friends and tabiin as well as tabiit tabiin, especially in three aspects of the scientific tradition, tarekat, hadith, and the kitab kuning. According to Ma’arif, relying on the hostel and kitab kuning, salaf pesantren emphasizes the morality and indigenous Javanese local culture and seeks to transmit the inclusive Islam and spread peace on earth, rabmat lil al-‘alamin. Maksum emphasized that salaf pesantren is oriented towards preserving tradition with a traditional education system. Thus, the salaf pesantren has advantages in aspects of its scientific tradition called a great tradition, and the system of transmission and internalization of the morality of Muslims (Royani, 2018: 378).

Second, kyai is the founder and caretaker of the salaf pesantren. Geertz (1960: 179) explains that kyai is a person to whom the students depend. Kyai has a big role. Bruinessen (1994: 18) explains that the main elements in the traditional Islam are pesantren and kyai with their charismatic attribute. The charisma of a kyai increases by respecting his students (Bruinessen, 1994: 18). Meanwhile, Steenbrink (1974: 12) says that the presence of kyai in the learning system in salaf pesantren is important, both individual and group methods.

According to Dhofer (2011: 42), the ideal Islamic teachings are manifested in a kyai. Madjid (1997: 23) also describes the life of the pesantren world as an ideal life, the relationship between students and kyai by paying respect. Kyai is seen as a teacher that should be respected and considered to have supernatural power that might bring good, luck (blessing) or bad luck (malati, mudlarat).

All the experts above confess the existence of kyai as an element of the salaf pesantren, even as the founder of the pesantren. Kyai is a man who guarantees the life of the students, a teacher who needs to be respected, and a figure who is able to be a role model for his students. Kyai is recognized as pious leader who always serves the community, so he deserves the title of kyai.

Third, the independence of salaf pesantren. The independence here means the independence in managing the pesantren. According to Geertz (1960: 179) the learning process in pesantren does not cost much. The operational costs of the pesatren are sourced from funds originating from the community in the form of zakat and alms. According to Steenbrink (1986: 19), pesantren gets regular income from their status as a waqaf area. The operational cost of pesantren comes from public charity as the additional income of pesantren. It is obtained from the registration fee of new students, the harvest period or the end of the fast. The income of pesantren still exists, but there is adaptation in term of operational costs for pesantren education. In addition, Steenbrink (1986: 19) explains that students are not charged for their learning since religious knowledge is not for sale. Steenbrink (1986: 18) explains that students are trained to be independent; they manage their finance matter to meet their daily needs.

The phenomenon above shows that education in pesantren is cheaper as compared to that at school. This still lasted until the middle of 20th century. Feillard (1999: 356) said the more classic pesantren buildings, the cheaper the education costs. In another word, Feillard explains that the schools in the pesantren could survive from land cultivation and donation from the society, not from the school fees of the santri (Feillard, 1999: 4).

According to Ismail (2020: 34) pesantren is the basis of resistance against the invaders, kyai defend their lives independently, mutual assistance on the basis of their own abilities. Thus, one of the characteristics of salaf pesantren is independent in managing and supporting itself (Ismail, 2020: 40). Based on the explanation above, pesantren observers agree that independence is one of the characteristics of salaf pesantren. Initially, the pesantren’s operational costs were taken care by the management and internal elements with self-financing from the pesantren’s stakeholders.

Fourth, the eminence of morality. Steenbrink (1986: 14) explains that to inculcate the Islamic spirit, kyai prioritizes pesantren as a residence and a place to study that allows students to apply religious values. According to Bruinessen (1994: 20) the eminence of student’s morality can be achieved through the tradition of Sufism and ubudiyyah. All obligatory worship is accompanied by sunnah practices, obligatory prayers are accompanied by sunnah prayers and zikir, wirid, and ratib. Dhofer (2011: 212-213), explains the implementation of Sufi teachings in the world of pesantren better known as tarekat, which is practical and ethical. Tarekat in pesantren is defined as strict adherence to the rules of Islamic sharia and practice the best of both ritual and social by performing the practice of wira’i, sunnah practices before or after the five daily prayers, and performing riyadlah. Ismail (2020: 41) also explains that the specific characteristic of Salaf pesantrenis the life of Sufistic nuances, emphasizing Sufistic life, so that it becomes a medium to implement Sufistic values.

This eminence of morality emerged due to the Salaf pesantren system which placed kyai and kitab kuning as the main elements in the pesantren education system and supported by its Sufi nuances.

Fifth, affiliated with the Nahdlatul Ulama organization. Before NU was founded, traditional Islamic groups existed and centered on pesantren. Therefore, Salaf pesantren had a close relationship with NU organization. According to Bruinessen (1994: 19), the content of traditional Islamic intellectual focuses on the teaching of the belief of Ash’ariyyah, fiqh Syafi’iyyah, and the teaching of moral and mysticism of Imam Al Ghazali and the grammar of traditional Arabic. This understanding is the core of the abussunnah wal jama’ab teaching, the article of association on NU. According to Madjid (1997: 31) alumni of Gontor Islamic boarding school, states that the value system of salaf pesantren is a teaching of Islam that focuses on the value system called ablus sunnah wal jama’ab. Dhofier (2011: 4) asserts that the teachings of Imam Syafi’i, Al Asy’ari-Maturidi, and Imam Junaid are suitable for the character of Indonesian because it teaches tawassub (middle path), tasamub (tolerance), and tawazun (balance).

According to Tan (2011: 92-93) referring to Burhanudin and Jamhari’s research, most traditional pesantren is affiliated with Nahdlatul Ulama, a moderate religious organization. Yasmadi, the man who criticized the writing of Madjid (1991: 91) emphasized that ablussunnah wal jama’ah value system focuses on three aspects, the aspect of Ashari theology, fiqh madzhab, and practical tasawuf. According to Neny (2019: 36) that on the basis of kitab kuning, salaf pesantren tend to be affiliated with NU and highlight Islam and Indonesians. In line with Neny, Nurkholis (2017: 170) explains that based on his study on kitab kuning of the salaf pesantren culture, it is affiliated with Nahdlatul Ulama as a moderate organization.

Islamic Moderation

Etymologically, moderation is English word which means in the middle, neither right nor left extreme (Sadzily and Echols, 2008: 245). Moderation in the Indonesian dictionary means a condition in the middle between two excessive sides (Purwodarminta, 2008: 355). In Arabic, moderation is similar to wasathiyyah, from the word wasath. Wasath means between two sides (baina al tarfaini) (Ma’luf, 1986: 900), or is interpreted in the middle (Al Munawir, 1984: 1662). According to Ibn Mandhur, wasath is a middle thing or a position between two ends, something between the two sides which is most important and best. According to Abadi, wasath is the place where something is the middle, as a court, which has the best lineage, the highest.

In the Qur’an, the term wasath and its derivatives are mentioned five times which epistemologically has the same meaning as elaborated above. The study of wasatiyyah in the Al Qur’an has been carried out by the Qur’an interpreters. The word wasath in Surah Al Baqarah verse 143, according to At Tobari and Al Qurtubi, is defined as goodness, justice and balance (Ushama, 2014: 187). With this interpretations, several meanings that are the same as the above meanings such as convenience, wisdom, istiqamah and being between two extreme sides emerge (Ash Shallabi, 2020: 81-218) Ushama, 2014: 190-195). Thus, the word “wasath” which means the middle (Al Munawir, 1994: 1662) denotes a good and praiseworthy meaning, as the antonym of “tharf” which means the end of everything (Al Munawir, 1994: 908) denotes an extreme meaning and tends to be negative. Islam is a moderate religion, placing itself between two extreme sides, an extreme side with an excessive nature of divine nature and an extreme side of human nature.

In the reality of life, an individual will not be able to avoid two things that are always contradictory. Therefore, Islam (al-Wasathiyyah Islamiyyah) teaches a position between two opposing and contradicting sides between the elements of rabbaniiyyah (divinity) and insaniyyah (humanity), between maddiyyah (materialism) and rubiyyah (spiritualism), between revelation and reason, between maslabah ammah (community) and maslabah fardi (individual). Moderate Islam places the two sides without harming the other elements (al-Qardhawi, 2001: 13, Al Madani, 2014: 9-10). Two extreme sides are the colors of human life in religion, the divine and humanistic sides, the material and spiritual sides, the reason and the existence of revelation, the individual and community sides. So, wasatiyah is a straight and consistent attitude in finding a middle way in compromising the differences (Al Qardhawi, 2010: 38).

The kindness of moderation on all sides leads to the value of goodness and benefit. Muslims are warned to put themselves on the moderate side. Previous scholars have warned about the importance of a moderate position, for example, Imam Al-Hasan said, “The religion of Islam is lost due to the behaviour of people who are extreme and permissive in religion (Al Qardhawi, 2010: 38). Zuhaili defines Islamic moderation as a balance in attitudes, belief, behaviour, rule, relationship, and morality. Islam is a moderate religion. It is not excessive in all matters and business, including religion, not extreme in belief, far from being arrogant or behaving gently (al-Zuhaili, 2011: 5). Islam is a guide for all nature, rahmatan lil alamin, for all creatures. Islam as a moderate religion, its teaching and value cover not only aspect of life but also aspect of belief or
Based on the above definition, it is known that Islamic moderation is a balance in belief, trait, attitude, behavior and associations and always keeps away from all kind of things that tend to be extreme, excessive, and reprehensible.

Methods
This is a qualitative research type. Referring to Denzin and Lincoln in Moeleong (2005: 5), qualitative research is defined as research that uses a natural setting, with the intention of interpreting the phenomena that occur and is carried out by involving various research methods. The methods used in this research are interviews, observation and documentation. Interviews are conducted as an effort to collect the data on pesantren Al Ittihad. Interviews are carried out with 3 caregivers, 4 teachers, 4 boards, 5 students and 5 alumni of pesantren Al Ittihad. Observation is held by looking at the various activities carried out by at the pesantren. The researcher also used documentation to collect the related data.

The sources of the data in this study are words, actions and documents related to the role of pesantren Al Ittihad in guarding the Islamic moderation in Indonesia. According to Moleong (2005: 157), data sources can be in the form of words, actions and documents. Data of the research on the role of pesantren Al Ittihad in guarding the Islamic moderation are in the form of words, actions and documents related to the pesantren. The words referred to here are the words of pesantren caretakers which are documented in the form of books, documents or recordings. The words of the caregiver are usually the guide for pesantren in running the organization. The intended action can be in the form of actions taken by caregivers, students or pesantren as an institution. Meanwhile the documents are pesantren documents, research documents at pesantren Al Ittihad Poncol, Popongan, Bringin, Central Java. Having the data been collected through data collection technique, then it is analysed. Technique of analyzing the data uses three stages, namely data reduction, data display and verification, and conclusions (Wiyono, 2007: 93).
The Role of Pesantren in Guarding The Islamic Moderation...

Results and Discussion
Strengthening Islamic Moderation at Pesantren Al Ittihad

Pesantren Al-Ittihad was founded in 1893 AD or 1310 BC by a qualified and pious scholar, named KH Misbah. He still has family bond with Sunan Kalijaga’s lineage. He is the pioneer and founder of pesantren Al Ittihad located in Poncol Popongan, Beringin, Semarang Regency. After the pesantren was founded, the son of the founder, Hasan Asy’ari continued to develop the pesantren. After KH. Hasan Asy’ari passed away; the leadership and management of the pesantren were continued by his son named Ahmad Afifuddin (KH. Ahmad Asy’ari) and his brothers K. Djunaid, K. Marzuki, K. Sajid, K. Yazid, K. Thohir , KH. Fadil Asy’ari. After the death of the elder of pesantren Al Ittihad, the leadership and management were continued by his sons, namely K. Chabib Ahmad, KH. Makmun Ahmad, KH. Mustain Ahmad and others. The caretaker of Pesantren Al-Ittihad, the generation of KH. Misbah became the pioneer of pesantren which is now KH. Sahli Bidayah, KH. Nurcholis Thohir, KH. Fathurrohman Thohir and others.

The hostels at pesantren Al Ittihad are attached to the homes of the caregivers, or close to the homes of their caregivers. The hostel at the residence of KH Nur Kholis Tohir, KH Fatkhurramhan Tohir, KH Fadil Ahmad, KH Mustain Ahmad, and KH Muhammad Fatih. There are totally eleven hostels occupied by the students namely F hostel, Bani Misbah B hostel, Hasan Asy’ari hostel, PI Al Ittihadiyiah hostel, Darussalamah hostel, al Fadhil hostel, Asy’ariyah hostel, al Thohiriyah hostel, al Fadhil PA hostel, al Habib hostel, Syamsul Mukhana hostel, Ma’hadus Sibyan hostel (pesantren document 2018). It is also equipped with the hostel for caretakers and teachers. All hostels of pesantren Al Ittihad is located around the Misbahur Rohman mosque. The role of pesantren is so important that it has become the embryo of the emergence of educational institutions in Indonesia and even in Malaysia (Mas’ud et al, 2019: 45). Thus, Islamic boarding schools have a long history as well as an important role in the development of education in Indonesia. Pesantren continues to experience development due to internal or external demands (Isbah, 2020: 99). The most influential internal element is the presence of the kyai, while one of the external elements of the pesantren is government policy (Yusuf and Taufiq, 2020: 26).

There are four kinds of programs carried out by pesantren Al Ittihad in strengthening the Islamic moderation. First, the teaching of kitab kuning, as a medium for the transformation of Islamic sciences. Kitab kuning is the core curriculum in salaf pesantren. It contains Islamic teachings directly sourced from the Qur’an and applicative hadith. All kitab kunings is related to aqidah, fiqh, morality, and Sufism. In particular, pesantren Al Ittihad teaches about the understanding of ahlus sunnah wal jamaab through the book titled “hujab ahlussunnah wal jamaab”. Kitab kuning is one of the basic elements of pesantren, as the transmission of Islamic science. The scientific chain from the previous generation to the next generation is carried out through this book. Kitab kuning in the world of pesantren covers various fields such qur’anic interpretation , hadith, fiqh, aqidah, morality, tasawuf, and Arabic. KH Nurkholis Tohir in his interview said:

“Some efforts to protect Islam ahlusunnah are carried out through the teaching of kitab kuning. There are no special efforts, nor special programs directly related to aswaja, or Islamic moderation. All kitab kuning covering aqidah, worship, morality, and Sufism teach about moderate Islam, those are easily accepted and practiced in everyday life.”

Kitab kuning in its scientific variants has different gradation and level. From the basic level to high level which is more detailed, complex, even deeper and broader. For example fiqih book, it is from the book of Safinatun Najah, Fatkbul Qarib, Fatkbul Muin, al Umm, and Bidayatul Mujtabid. Safinatun Najah is a fiqih book that discusses about basic themes. Another example is Arabic grammar book (naburi), from al Jurumiyah, Umritbi, Alfiyah Ibn Malik, and so on. The students at Pesantren Al Ittihad should pass the book gradations from beginner to high level. Students need a long time to master all kind of book mentioned above. In Madrasah Diniyah Manbaus Sunnah, pesantren Al Ittihad takes a minimum of eight years to complete the standard books mentioned above. Learning material based on this book may affect the way students think. Sufistic thinking can also affect the thinking patterns of students (Yani et al, 2020: 283). The ideology of the santri can be strengthened through the role of the kyai in learning the classical book as in Zainal Arifin’s research at the Mlangi Islamic boarding school (Arifin, 2015: 370).

Second, the implementation of extra activities of teaching and learning held at pesantren Al Ittihad are in the form of speech, negotiation, ziarah kubur, mujahadah, reciting surah yasin, al barjanji, manaqib, and tablilan. Pesantren is a miniature of the community with its variants. A very broad description of society can be seen at the pesantren community. In Muslim society, there are several developing activities performed by the community. Pesantren Al Ittihad Poncol tries to carry out religious activities students. Therefore, pesantren Al Ittihad prepares its students with skills and activities performed by the Muslim community affiliated with NU, the nabdliyyin community. As said by Yusron as pesantren manager:

“Many extra activities are performed by the board of pesantren Al Ittihad, Poncol, Popongan, Beringin Semarang Regency. The activities held are speech, ziarah maqbaroh, mujahadah, yasinan, manaqib, and tablilan. These activities are expected to be students’ additional skill when they have completed their studies at the pesantren, and then come back to their hometown.”

Yusron’s statement above was corrected by Luqman, another pesantren manager.

“Extra activities carried out at pesantren Al Ittihad are diverse, ranging from speech training until ziarah kubur. Everything is conducted to give students skills to live in their community. Upon coming home from pesantren, they have ability to serve the society in accordance with their skill.”

Extra activities at pesantren Al Ittihad are quite varied. Those are the skills students need as they return to their community. The extra activities of pondok Al Ittihad show a very close relation between two cultures, Islamic culture and Javanese culture. The Islamic values merge at pesantren culture. The relation between Islamic culture and local Javanese culture is the embryo of Islamic moderation in the field of socio-culture. The culture in this context is the socio-cultural change caused by globalization. Pesantren will accept the change as long as it is not contrary to Islamic values and is useful. Appreciation of local traditions is part of moderate thinking. One can accept local traditions as long as they do not conflict with Islamic teachings (Suciati and Erzard, 2018: 53). This is a form of Indonesian Islamic society that has experienced improvement through acculturation and depth of religious understanding (Hilmy, 2018: 67, Burhan i, 2017: 347). Understanding theology that is applicable in the life of Islamic society is the main need, as well as criticism of classical theology (Qomar, 2015: 223). Local traditions, especially Javanese tradition, can survive and exist on the one hand and Islam as a religion can be well accepted by the community (Maftukhin, 2016: 389).

Third, establishing formal schools at pesantren Al Itthad environment for the students and community around it. Formal schools were established in the form of RA Al Ittihad, SMK Al Ittihad, junior high school, and senior high school and the like. In the interview, KH Nurkholis Tohir explained about the efforts of pesantren Al Ittihad in providing students with formal education.

“Pesantren Al Ittihad has established RA Al Ittihad and SMK Al Ittihad within the pesantren. The aim of establishing RA Al Ittihad is to provide an opportunity for the family of the Bani Misbah to send their children to RA Al Ittihad. It not not necessary to come out from the pesantren. Meanwhile, the establishment of SMK Al Ittihad aims to provide opportunities for Al Ittihad students who will enrol the formal education.”

In addition, KH Nurkholis Tohir also gave more detailed explanation as follows.

Pesantren Al Ittihad has several branches like in Purwokerto, Semarang, Kendal and Bali. One of the branches is in Kadirejo, Pabelan. Pesantren Darussalam established SMP IT Al Ahqaf. This school merges with pesantren Darussalam, most of its students are from pesantren itself. They were taken care by KH Fatkhurrahman Tahir’s son.

The establishment of schools organized by Pesantren Al Ittihad with the label of integrated Islamic schools is a response to the development of Islamic education. Nowadays, Islamic education experienced a drastic change, with the emergence of Islamic schools labeled full-day school a few years ago. Then the last decade there were some Islamic school labeled integrated school, SDIT and SMPIT. Integrated schools try to integrate the school system with pesantren system. This school implements a learning model with a public school curriculum and basic science of Islam. Some integrated schools combine the formal school learning model with the learning model implemented at pesantren. The pesantren learning system was taken in integrated schools such as the existence of hostel, memorization of the Qur’an, Islamic religious education, and Arabic. Then the formal public school they attended was like elementary school that added Quranic material, Islamic religious education, and Arabic language in the curriculum.

The integrated school model uses a hostel system for its students. The students in integrated schools stay at the hostel after enrolling the formal education in the morning. Then after studying in formal school, they were given Islamic material in hostel, just like in pesantren. Integrated Islamic schools are not an independent phenomenon, without the social setting of the community. Some integrated Islamic schools have a certain background. In the beginning, many integrated Islamic schools are founded by Islamic foundations, or Islamic-based party like Prosperous Justice Party (PKS). This integrated Islamic school received a positive response and warm welcome from Muslim communities in some places.

The majority of Muslim communities affiliated with Nahdlatul Ulama (NU) also send their children to these integrated schools. This phenomenon encouraged the boards of Nahdlatul Ulama (NU), as well as the boarding school caretakers to establish an integrated school based on pesantren that understands the teaching of ablussunnah wal jamaah. The alumni of this formal school are expected to have a strong commitment to the understanding of ablussunnah wal jamaah. They become agents of ablussunnah wal jamaah doctrine in the midst of society.

One of the branches of pesantren Al Ittihad in Sempon, Kadirejo, which is managed by Gus Alam, the son-in-law of KH Fatkhurrahman Tohir, has officially established an integrated Islamic school, SMPIT, which is based on the pesantren system. According to Gus Alam, the parents' interest to send their children to the integrated Islamic schools is quite high. This is proven by the willingness and request of the parents for the pesantren Darussalam, Sempon village, Kadirejo to immediately establish SMAIT education, to response the request of the alumni of SMPIT and their parents at pesantren Darussalam.

Fourth, inviting government and mass organization figures who have moderate Islamic ideology. Some figures invited are Imam Nahrawi, as the minister of sport as well as the alumni of pesantren, KH Hasyim Muzadi, ex-deputy of PBNU, Prof. Dr. Said Agiel Siraj, the chairman of the PBNU.

The presence of kyai in pesantren or other Islamic educational institutions is very important since it has a significant influence in shaping the mindset of students as a teacher in education (Yani et al, 2020: 283, Mukaffa, 2017: 197, Niam, 2015: 131). Furthermore, pesantren as educational institutions become important media in promoting moderate Islam and minimizing radicalism, as Hidayatullah and Fitri Nurhidayati’s research on the role of campus mosques (2015: 325). As evidence of the influence of educational institutions on the religious thinking of students, in some areas, the level of moderation of students is still quite high as stated in research (Ali, 2020: 19).

KH Hasyim Muzadi was invited to pesantren Al Ittihad in the context of regular recitation after completely finishing Bukhari and Sakhih Muslim books on April 30, 2014. In summary, he explained about how to struggle to achieve the goal in various possible ways. The struggle to improve the implementation of Islamic law can be achieved in various ways. It can be done through the political constellation by joining as a member of the council and struggling outside the government, including in pesantren. Struggling by teaching the students, giving recitation at the pesantren is part of the struggle to uphold and ground Islamic values in Indonesia.

In more detail, he explained the importance of exemplary figures in KH Misbah as the founder of pesantren Al Ittihad Poncol. Located far from the city center of Semarang Regency or Salatiga City, he can bring the name of pesantren Al Ittihad to various parts especially in Central Java. In his speech, he motivated the students to prepare themselves with various skills and abilities that would become provisions for their lives in the future. The alumni of salaf pesantren, especially Al Ittihad, should not feel inferior to other graduates, whether college graduates or graduates from other pesantren.

Prof. Dr. KH Agiel Siraj attended pesantren Al Ittihad for socializing the sport in the community on April 6, 2016. He explained that we should be proud as santri (student) and be able to imitate what KH Misbah had done in spreading a friendly Islam. Thanks to him for his persistence and high knowledge even though he lives in the middle of a hamlet, far from the center of government and crowd, he was able to inherit pesantren he has founded to the next generation. He is a portrait of role model for the Muslim community in Indonesia. Indonesian scholars have a special character compared to others. The special character of Indonesian Muslim scholar has a special character. Indonesian Muslim scholar spread Islam and built civilization with local culture, Indonesian culture.

According to KH Nurcholish Tohir, pesantren Al Ittihad invites national figures to pesantren intending to provide national insight to the students.

“The attendance of national figures who understand pesantren is very important to provide national insight to the students so that they are not only literate in religion and the kitab kuning but also understand some national and state issues.”

These were some of the government officials and community leaders who were invited to pesantren Al Ittihad Poncol. The purpose of inviting them is to motivate the students in order to deepen their religious knowledge in pesantren, and be able to provide enlightenment for students to be literate about national and social issues in Indonesia. Besides, it is also expected to provide insight into Islamic moderation for the society around the pesantren.

Conclusion

There are four types of programs organized at pesantren Al Ittihad in strengthening Islamic moderation in Indonesia. First, the teaching of kitab kuning, as a medium for the transformation of Islamic science. The followers and companions of Prophet Muhammad saw are portrayed in the kitab kuning. Pesantren Al Ittihad teaches the understanding of abulus sunnah wal jamaah through the book titled “abulus sunnah wal jamaah.” Second, the implementation of extra-curricular activities and pesantren teaching is in the form of speech, negotiation, ziarah kubur, mujabadab, yasinan, Al Barjanji, manaqib, and tablilan. Third, establishing formal schools at the pesantren environment for students and the community around it. Formal schools were established in the form of RA Al Ittihad, SMP Al Ittihad, SMK Al Ittihad, and SMA Al Ittihad. Fourth, inviting the government officials and organization leaders that have a moderate understanding of Islam. Inviting some figures such as Imam Nahrawi, as the minister of sport as well as the alumni of pesantren, KH. Hasyim Muzadi, former general chairman of PBNU, Prof. Dr. Said Agiel Siraj, general chairman of PBNU.
